CHICAGO. The Chicago Democrat, of yesterday, EDWARD BATES, by the Americans of Missouri for President of the United States. We have long been aware that, since the editor of tha reputable sheet, censed to exercise an ap-clable influence on the Republican party, preciable influence on the Republican party, he has been seeking an opportunity to betray it; but we did not suppose, when he made up his mind to quit, that he would seek refuge anyong the old friends of Fillmore, whom he as so violently opposed. The organization his new seems to have left have a happy

Evidently, Mr. Douglas is frightened in view of the carnestness with which that Convention arowed its purposes. His organ, the Washington States, is frightened, and, with his sanction doubtless, in its issue of Monday last, propounds the following queries: M. "What is the purpose of Mr. Forney and his friends? Do they meditate apostacy to the Op-position, or are they resolved to adhere in good faith to the Democrafte party? Jib they pledge themselves to support the nominees of the Charston Convention? In the name of the Democ acy of the Union, we respectfully entrent are by to these inquires. As the Harrisburg Convention has adjourned As the Harrisburg Convention has adjourned, and no one having been authorized to speak for it, it is not likely these queries of Mr. Douglas will be speedily answered. That they will meet with a response, however, in 1860, to the utter confusion of the Pro-Slavery Democracy, we have not the shadow of a doubt.-

Those went early who got good seats, and those were fully up to time who got acuts at all. The house at the opening of the lecture was densely througed, floor, stage and galleries, aisles and staircases were filled, almost uncomfortably so, and still they came, thronging up the stairs, essenting through the vestibule and pressing into the entrance in the manner that indicates that when some lucky inventor shall introduce the gutta percha, indirender principle into public halls and omnibuses he will make a straight stratch to a speady fortune. As it was, hat evening the Hall could do no more, its limits had been fixed by the

do not more, its limits had been fixed by the architect, and the plan for its extension still waits, consequently it became "all full finide" before all Mr. Beecher's admirers had gained the interior. For these let there be an early teathis evening, and a prompt arrival at the half on the first stroke of—six. Half an hour's leeway, ladies, and the question of seven leaves, the seven in the se way, ladies, and the question of sents bec one work, let us whisper it just here. By accurate and careful design those sottees at Metropolitan Hall contain four seats each. Our friend Dr. D.— helps us to what we wish to say in this connection. The other day a State street omnibus even then in a state of plethora was conveying the Dr. southward. It considers was conveying the Dr. southward. It paused at a crossing and two ladies in full dress looked a crossing and two ladies in full dress looked distressedly in; they were about to turn back when thus the Dr.—

"Come in, ladies, come in, you are not half as large as you look."
The settees at Metropolitan Hall, containing readily four persons, those ladies who insist on their "thirds" do so to the injustice of others whose loss, as on last evening, is a regretted one. Close up the lines. Steel is elastic—whalchone is clastic. Remember the Doctor.
But what shall we say after this episode on his undience, of the speaker of the evening—Henry Ward Beecher. His was literally an audience—they went to hear, they heard, and from those noble utilizances they carried away that worth the hearing and the remembering. at worth the hearing and the remember Mr. Beecher is not the man to lionize or be lion-ized. sudience. "Success and Failure." We have no space for the outline we had promised ourselves. It was a characteristic, manly and eloquent lecture, full of thought, and of value.

The lecture this evening, to accommodate the necessity of the spacker to leave by the evening train, will commone at half-past six o'clo ck. Subject: "The Burdens of Society." The hour is an unusual one, but the occasion is no common one. It is only a matter of "early tea," or as they used to say, "early candle light." We opine Mr. Beecher could fill a house at the stroke of noon, though the dinners of the people grew cold, or became hasty plates of soup. LIGHT AND CHEER .- THE C. G. L. & C. Co.

The announcement of the Chicago Gas Light and Coke Company in another column, will be the direct source of all that is expressed in our caption for the homes of many of our citizens the coming year. The reduction of price thus declared will be the turning point with many who have been healtfairs at the transparence of the company of t declared will be the turning point with many who have been hesitating as to the gas question, and we shall expect to find our gas fitters not among the least cheery thereat. Among the prime luxuries of a city home is gas. An en-tire freedom from lamps and the lamp problem; from oils which like the mackerel in certain stages, "stink and shine," and oils which with blandness of odor, give a blandness of light, the reduction applied to the illuminating power; latent within themselves the lively principles of a keg of gunpowder; from burning fluids which are family powder flasks, accidents put up "in glass" for domestic use; from each and all of these before necessary evils in many households, freedom, exemption, safety. The luxury of gas those who have used will not easily be persuaded to relinquish. persuaded to refinquish.

The Gas Compiany are timely as well as generous in their liberality. The first of May is the opening of the domestic year with the tenant and landlord world, and the latter will not be slow, if they are wise, in availing themselves in many instances of the winning good tenants by the cheerful prospect of gas burners, while many nants and even more owners of houses will tch their house music and cheer for the company.

We need scarcely say that the reduction of one dollar on a thousand feet will bring this best, this king of all illuminators to compete in cheapness, where in other respects it has had o rival, with any and all others.

Mr. Jefferson, in the contrary, looked to that region as the place where few homes ware to be acquired for the colored people among us, to fillfill his cherished schame of separating the races, which he required as essential to the freedom of either. The result of the projected conquest of Outes will be the renewal of the slavet race, to bring Africa in chains to the work of the West Indies, whilst the poor caste of the shite race in our anothern regions are to be converted into a soldiery to maintain the process. This mode of acquisition bodes war with foreign powers, a sparsition of the Union, and, if the wild hopes of the projectors could be accomplished, would renew around the Gulf of Mexico a sort of Turkish domain, like that which once embraced the Mediterranean in its boson. These Seascens of the South, who would propagate sixery with the sword, must expect a crussed eaghnst this scheme by all the nations of the New World that love freedom. the Way to Pike's Feak.

(From the Detroit Free Press, 19th.)

A young gentleman arrived in town on Saturday and put up at the Farmers' Home, who represented himself as on his way to Pike's Peak, He was well dressed and good looking, and appeared to have money to pay for all he got, although quite pradent in his expenditures, as was denoted by the style of public house which he resorted to. His entire ignorance of the route, or of the necessary equipment, attracted some attraction, but people set him down as a verdant young gentleman, and kindly gave him all the information in their power. There was nothing about him that excited suspicion, although the landlord thought him somewhat fastidious in refusing to sleep with another man, and he staid over night. This operation was fatal to him, however, for the women folks discovered by some inexplicable means, the next morning, that the supposed young gent was a girl of eighteen or missten years of ago. They were highly scandalized at this, as women are apt to be in such cases, and insisted upon having an officer sent for.

Deputy Sheriff Champ soon arrived and took charge of the now disconsolate young woman, which had other atterized her disquises. She went with him willingly, being assured that no harm would be done her, and above all that she would not be put in jail, and told her story unreservedly.

She did not leave her quarters, however, with-

Ghiago, April 8, 1880.—april-dw-ffel. It is now about ten mouths since we left home and all its dear friends, yet you may be assured that none of you have been forgotten, and it is no small source of comfort, when far from home, to know that there are those in whose kind remembrance we still have a place.

We left Chicago on the 11th of May last, and New York on the 15th, and arrived in Norway on the 6th of June, having visited England, and spent a week in Germay. I have written regularly for one Norwegian paper, and also for an English paper published in Springfield, Illinois, by Rev. Dr. Harkey, but you have not seen any of them, I presume. I get letters and papers from America almost weekly, so that I am tolerably losted as to home affairs, and in return I have written more than 100 letters, public and private, besides travelling over and around nearly the whole country. Thus you will see that I have not been idle. Now I thought that, among many dear friends in Christian, in Valders, and you will see that I have not been idle. Now I thought that, among many dear friends in Christian, in Valders, and you will have been sould be curious to know my whereshouts more definitely, take the map of Norway, place your finger on it at a point about 801 dag.

To di customer and all in wast of Goods in their box, rely upon finding at their entablasment, one of the first and best amorted stocks in the Wast, comprising to be the jet and het amottel stock in the West, comprising in per Control of the Contr out any further introduction I will proceed at once to tell you some of the impressions made on my mind in visiting Norway after 16 years residence in America.

That some of my expectations have not been realized, is not to be wondered at. I left the country when young, and my views of it were those of youth and childhood, and who that has those of youth and childhood, and who that has left his native home in youth and returned in mature years has 65 felt some disappontment? The truth is, we cannot go back to those days and live in the joys and sorrows of that period, we belong to the present; with it must be mingled our toils and our tears; with it our joys be shared; in it and with it we live and move. I shored; in it and with it we live and move. I have found the places where I played as a child, and these certainly have their importance to every well balanced mind; but it cannot so captivate me as to make me forget the place where the strength of my manhood has been spent.—Norway has made considerable progress during the 16 years I have been absent. In proportion to its means I think it has kept pace with other nations both in material and moral development. It has its steamboats, railroads, telegraph lines, and its unequaled public roads, which last evince a degree of perfection in civil engineering that would be an honor to any country; and if it is true, that the public roads in a country can be taken as an index of the civilization of its people, Norway, certainly, deserves to be ranked among the highest on the list. The traveling public is also turning hitherward, as conveyances are MOVAL—On and after the 31st Lis. till the completion of the new Banking House on Wistreet, north of Lake street, the offset of GDORO E SMITE CO, will be in the Marine Bank Building, corner of Lisand Lennite streets, cotrance on the right of the midd in cities. C. Origgs & Co., Lake Term will begin on Wednesday, April 201 so turning hitherward, as conveyances are eing much improved, and the scenery in many laces is not at all inferior to Switzerland. Nor-TPFERSON HIGH SCHOOL. way has also a delightful climate; neither ex-cessive heat in summer nor extreme cold in win-ter. Notwithstanding the high elevation above the sea, and the high northern latitude of the lace where we have spent the winter, there has een no day during the entire winter that I ould not be out doors without an overcost, alhough a very large amount of snow has fallen his, I think. is owing to the dryness of the ci-Norm. I take pleasure in recommending to my patrons Mr. H. Millen, who has purchased my interest in the Jefferson that Mille School. From his experience in seasing, and thism upon which he intends to conduct this School I ries count that he will do justice to his pupils and give nationals to his patrons.

M. B. GLEASON. This, I taink. Is owing to the drybess of the comate.

The general condition of the country is highly prosperous; there are but few great capitalists, it is true; but so there is, on the other hand, but little actual powerly general competency seems to characterize all classes. The late money criais has had but little effect here, except in the largest cities, where there is a large foreign trade. The late harvest abundant and the health of the country is excellent.

In religious matters there begins to be considerable commotion, and more is forthcoming.—The law of 1845, which grants free toleration—within preserbed limits—to all religious, seemed for years not to call forth any dissentions from the State Church except a few Quakers and a Berlin to his pairons.

The real christians are warmly attached to the Lutheran faith, fully as much as a Presbyterian is to his Westmisster catechism, or an Episcopalian to his 30 articles; and why shouldn't they be? It is true that there are many things in the Siste Church with neither I, nor any real christian, can approve of, and unless concessions are made, and reforms are instituted, the State Church will certainly lose ground; yet, so long as the pious in the church cannot enjoy the same faith out of it, I think they are quite right in remaining. You must not construct this as a defence for the State Church; for it, as such, I have no defence to make. I simply wish to justify the large body of truly pious people, who have hithrot thought it consistent with the duties they owe to Ged, and to themselves, to remain in it. The State Church seems to me like an old dilapidated building, containing much that may justly be termed an abomination in the sight of God, who must be parified, and in endeavoring to do so it would be easy to tear it 40 pleen; but after all, paradox as fins may seem, the vitality, the very assence of the church of God in this land, is found within this old crambing structure. If, therefore, if a seal not according to knowledge, it so be used in efforts pade to removing at the means of remedy may be as injurious as the disease itself. To the praise of God I can assure you, that I have found more traly converted and pious "mole here than you might suppose could be found in the State-Church." From many pulpits have I heard the Gospel preached in it aprity, and with power, and, depend on it, God last plany here that are known to be his.

[From the Galema Advertiser.]

Miners in the vicinity of Potosi, British Hollow and Rockville, have done reasonably well the past winter, though we bear of so "big leads" having been discovered. The largeat diggings have yielded only from 40,000 to 50,000 pounds of mineral. Owing to the failure of crops, many formers have turned their attention to mining, and the resulthan been, notwithstanding the absence of "big discoveries," a large amount of mineral has been raised.

The mechanis have sold about the usual amount of goods, almost explaintedy for each, sancture than they are in a strictly farming community. Mineral has been and to now selling as high as $35 per 1,000 lbs., which price we regard at this time, above the real value of the sequence. There is a strong competition among the smalters, and contracts are entered into in many cases before the mineral is raised to the top of the ground.

But very few of the miners from Potosi and vicinity have gone to Pike's Peak. Wisconsin Lead Mines, Stage Travelling.

A dreary, weary, tedions ride we had from Iowa City to Des Moinas: 120 miles in 3 days; a distance that the steam car would stravel in 4 hours. With infinitely more comfort and in less time than is consumed in this 120 miles of stage. time than is consumed in this 130 miles of staging, the traveller can reach floaton from lowaring, the traveller can reach floaton from lowaring to the design of the M. & M. R. R. Co., but failed to do so. It is said that the timber for a flail fload bridge agrees the lowa River, at lowarities in process of preparation at Chicago; but no work is going on in Johnson Co, at this time. The work of grading is going on in Powshick and lova Counties, and a large number of ties are piled up along the newly made track. Still the force employed is not large, and this is evidence that she Company has not fully completed its arrangements for working on a scale commensurate with its desire. Mr. Parnham is at this time in New York. It is expected that he will visit Des Moines at an early day.—Der Moines Civitzen, Itinal. Rail Road Vorz in Manasza.—A slip from the Oakaloosa Herald, informs us that the special vote taken in that county, last week, resulted in a majority of over 700 against rescioning the action of the County authorizing a loan to the M. & M. R. R. R. Co., is mustained by the people. In other words the people of Mahaska County still feel that they can afford to submit to an additional burthen of taxation, if they can thereby secure a Hail Road connaction with the East.
